14th EDITION - 15 December 2023

MESSAGE FROM MR REID

Festive Week

It has been a busy and festive last week of term. The week began with our wonderful Carol Service held in St. Mary's Church on Monday. Well done to our six Year 6 readers who read with such confidence and clarity. The school choir sang superbly including the tricky descants in certain carols. Well done to Charlie and Grace G, who enjoyed the premier of their winning Christmas Carol. Thank you to Mr Clarke for all his hard work preparing the children so well.

Pantomime

On Wednesday we took the whole school to see Jack and the Beanstalk at The Stag Theatre. The children thoroughly enjoyed the performance and it was great to see so many happy faces. Thank you to Mr Hafford-Robson who found himself being rather more involved in the pantomime than he expected!

Christmas Lunch

On Thursday our school kitchen team cooked a fantastic Christmas lunch for all children and staff. The food was delicious and there were lots of clean plates. It is quite amazing that over 400 meals were served hot and on time. Thank you to kitchen team and the PTA for helping set the hall up and making it look so festive.

Choirs

Training Choir and Amherst Choir had the opportunity to sing in front of the Christmas tree in Trafalgar Square at 4.00pm on Thursday. It was a magical experience and one that the children will cherish. Thank you to all parents for accompanying the children and making it possible. Thank you once again to Mr Clarke and Miss Foinette for enabling such a great event to take place.

Congratulations

Congratulations to Mr and Mrs Barratt who welcomed their new baby daughter, Rose, into the world on Saturday. I'm sure you will join me in wishing them every happiness and a very special Christmas.

Thank You

I would like to take this opportunity to thank parents for their generosity and thoughtfulness in all the presents that staff (including myself) have received in the last few days. Your kindness is much appreciated and it is wonderful that the hard work of all staff is recognised.

I hope you all have a wonderful Christmas.

Please remember that children return to school on Thursday 4th January.

FESTIVE CELEBRATIONS

CAROLS

Here is what Caroline and Mia in 6W had to say about the event:

On Monday, 11th December 2023, the Amherst Choir sang Christmas carols with the congregation of the church. The service filled us with Christmas cheer as we stuffed Saint Mary's Church with musical notes.

As students of Amherst Choir, we thought this magical Christmas service was wonderful and amazing. Two students, Grace G and Charlie G, wrote a Christmas carol called 'The Christmas Tree' which was one of the many songs performed at the church service. To accompany the Choir, organist (Alex Trigg), who is from The Choir of St John's college, happily played with us through the carols. We also all listened to the readings read by Year six children which were stories from the Bible. It was a superb service, we all enjoyed ourselves and had lots of fun.

Another member of the audience kindly shared the following with us:

I think this was my first real opening to Advent events this year.

A very warm welcome by the pupils as we entered the church.

The organ, as it roared into action, was out of this world which made me very emotional through the first carol we sung, and so it goes on, it just kept giving - compliments to the organist, Alexander Trigg.

Mr Clarke (music teacher) has the choir in his hands. What a blessing and so good to see for a school choir, and how well the choir was directed and sang. And the super little piece by Grace and Charlie. I left St. Mary's church on a high for preparation for the Christmas season.

TRAFALGAR SQUARE

Our Amherst and Training Choirs sang in front of the Christmas Tree in Trafalgar Square yesterday afternoon.

PANTOMIME

Our visit to the Pantomime was as always a highlight of the year! Jack and the Beanstalk did not disappoint.

Mr H-R was fortunate enough to be chosen to make his stage debut—of course to the entertainment of all. We hope your children had a lot of fun!

One of our parents saw the children leave the theatre and reported back:

"I have just watched the whole school skip very merrily out of the Stag and into their coaches from the warmth of my office across the road - the children clearly had a great time!"

UPDATE FROM THE CHAIR

Wow, what a busy time the last few weeks have been. I firstly would like to thank each and every one of you for your donations, time and really positive feedback. The Christmas bazaar was an enormous success and had such a wonderful atmosphere. It was great to have so many helpers and all stalls ran like clockwork. Thank you! I had a great team to support the bazaar but I have to mention my wonderful vice chair Nicole Miles - she works so hard for the PTA team and put a lot of time into this bazaar and all our festive plans, I certainly couldn't have done it without her. I'd like to take this opportunity to wish you all a very Merry Christmas and fantastic New Year. I look forward to catching up with you in 2024.

Hayley x

Online safety is an important part of keeping children safe at school.

All of our pupils are taught how to be safe and behave appropriately online, but we can only be successful in keeping children safe online if we work together.

It's important that as adults, we take an active interest in our children's online lives and show a willingness to engage in the digital world with them.

If you believe a child is in immediate danger, always contact 999 for police assistance.

E-scooters – are you breaking the law?

Can I ride my e-scooter to school or work?

No, it's Illegal...

E-scooters are classed as motor vehicles and are required to be taxed and insured. It's not possible to get insurance for privately owned e-scooters, which means it's illegal to use them.

Can I ride my e-scooter on the pavement?

No, it's Illegal...

You cannot use e-scooters on public footpaths, cycle lanes or roads.

What happens if I'm caught using my e-scooter in public spaces?

The scooter may be seized and as a result, destroyed.

If stopped by an officer, you may be asked to complete a breath and drugs test. You also risk a £300 fine and six penalty points on your licence for no insurance.

Kent Police

Think before you buy:
The number of electrical scooters being used on our streets has risen, as well as reports of serious injury and fatalities.
For more information or advice on the use of e-scooters visit www.kent.police.uk/road-safety

Ground advice

- Discuss and agree as a family how the internet will be used in your home. Let your children tell you what they think is and isn't acceptable for them to do online, such as not being nasty to people, keeping personal information private and speaking to an adult when they are worried. Then add your own rules such as how long they can spend online and when and where webcams can be used.
- You might find it helpful to write these 'ground rules' down as a visual reminder.
- Make sure your child understands that their actions and behaviours online can have offline consequences.
- Remember these are whole family rules, so consider your own use of the internet and think about how much information you are sharing on your social networks about your children and who can see it, such as school photos.
- Agree on what will happen if they don't follow your family rules.

Online safety

- Make sure you apply parental controls to all internet enabled devices in your household, including tablets, phones and games consoles. They can restrict access to inappropriate content and can help you manage how much time your child spends online.
- Make sure your child understands the parental controls are in place to protect them, not restrict them; some children will actively work around parental controls if they feel constrained without knowing why.
- Set up filters on internet search engines to limit the likelihood of your children accidentally coming across inappropriate content when searching online.
- Be aware that internet history can be hidden and deleted, so talk to your children and supervise their online use appropriately.
- Remember filters and parental controls are not 100% effective so you cannot rely on them alone to protect your children. It is important your children understand they should tell you straight away if they see something inappropriate or upsetting online.

Listen

- Take an active interest in your child's online life and talk openly with them about the things they do. Talk to your child about which websites and apps they like to use and why; engage in their online world with them. This can be in behaviour, language and attitude in your mind. These behaviour changes can indicate something is upsetting your child online. Children who are groomed, radicalised, abused or exploited online will often be pressured to withdraw from family and friends.

Dialogue

- Talk to your children – be open and positive when talking about the internet.
- Ask your child how they know their child knows they can come to you for help if something happens online that makes them feel scared, worried or uncomfortable. Many children won't disclose online worries because they are scared adults will blame them or remove their access to the internet.
- Ask your child if they know where to go for help, where to find safety advice, information about privacy settings and how to report or block users on their games and websites.
- Explore their games and websites together to ensure your child knows how to block and report anyone who is nasty or inappropriate. Encourage your child not to retaliate or reply and to keep any evidence. If the game/app has a 'parent section', explore the parental controls and reporting systems yourself.
- Ensure your child understands pictures, videos or comments posted online can be very difficult to remove and rarely remain private.
- Discuss the pressures for young people to send inappropriate or nude/indecent images to each other. How might this behaviour affect their relationships? Do they know what they would do if they are under 18, they may already be breaking the law by making an indecent image of themselves.
